SRS: applications, offers and preferences

This month we're focusing on some important Schools Recommendation Scheme reminders and tips for you and your students.

SRS application and offer dates

- Application deadline: 16 September
- Course preference deadline: 1 November
- First offers released: 8 November (November Round 1)
- Conditional offers converted to unconditional offers: from 23 December (December Round 2)

Navigating offers and preferences

In November Round 1, students can receive one unconditional offer and multiple conditional offers. To convert a conditional offer to an unconditional one, students must keep the course in their UAC preference list and meet the institution's specified criteria.

- Students should always prioritise their dream course. In December Round 2, they won't be penalised for ranking their dream course above a course for which they've received a conditional offer, even if an institution instructs them to list the conditional course as their 'highest eligible preference'.
- If they miss out on their dream course, their next choice will be considered, and so on. Their conditional offer will be considered after the courses listed above it have been considered. If the conditional course is listed as their top choice, and they've met the conditions, they will receive the offer and not be considered for courses listed below it.

EAS: apply now, upload documents later

The Educational Access Scheme can help students who have faced significant educational challenges secure a university offer even if their ATAR is below the selection rank.

While gathering the documents required for an EAS application may take some time, encourage your students to apply now. They'll then have a clear understanding of the documents they need to provide and be able to upload them as they are collected. All EAS documents need to be uploaded by 21 November to be assessed in time for December Round 2 offers.

Uni open days

We're in peak open day season! Open days are invaluable in helping students make informed decisions about their course preferences. UAC attends as many as possible to meet students and discuss their options. Most open days take place at this time of year, so be sure to share open day dates with your students.

All courses available in August

All semester 1, 2025 courses from UAC's participating institutions will be added to UAC's course search – and be available for selection – in early August. This is a good time for students who have submitted their application to review their preferences. A reminder to students who have not yet applied: the early bird fee ends on 30 September.

UAC - Career mapping: where to after school?

Many students are uncertain about their next steps after Year 12. But – as Phillip Williamson, Head Teacher Careers for the NSW Government’s Educational Pathways Program, writes – it’s vital to go easy on yourself, self-reflect and do your research. Here are Williamson's practical tips for starting your career journey. The most important thing, he advises, is to focus on your direction, not your destination.

Reminder - UTS's Bachelor of Information Technology Co-operative Scholarship

Applications Close 8 September

The Bachelor of IT Co-operative Scholarship is a three-year IT course. It's a fast-track course that's been designed to mentor the next generation of IT and business leaders. It's about building your tech and business skills in equal measure. Capitalising on your leadership potential. Growing your innovation mindset. Above all, it's about shaping you to become a business-savvy, work-ready, IT management professional who's ready to make your mark.

The BIT is a highly competitive course – it's been designed with future leaders in mind. To get in, you'll need to demonstrate how you stand out from the crowd.

Successful students generally achieve a Selection Rank of 88–99.95; however, your ATAR is just one component of your application.

The interview is your chance to show us your passion for technology. We also want to see your communication and interpersonal skills and your desire to be a leader in your field. We balance our selection criteria against one another. So if you've got a lower ATAR (say, 85 or 86), wow us in the interview and you could still be in with a chance.

Student Life in the Tertiary World

Choosing what to study and where to study is really just the tip of the iceberg. Once you've finally made the big decision and turned up for your first day, student life is everything that follows. Your time as a student is a whole lot more than just showing up to class and displaying a diploma on your wall. Rather, it's about the complete picture and what you get out of your experience, including minor ups and downs and the general challenges that come with taking time out to complete post-compulsory education.

This section covers everything you need to know about life as a student but probably haven't even thought about yet, from student services and how to use them to helpful hints for when you begin job hunting.

Careers In Shipping

The shipping industry plays a vital role in international trade and in the economic progress of most countries. Because of its international involvement and operations it is different in many respects from other industries. Because of this it offers interesting and diverse career opportunities.

Shipping operates in a keenly competitive international market and as the growth in international trade increases and ships to carry the trade are in greater demand, career prospects also improve.

Employment opportunities arise for bright young people with or without their higher school certificate or university degrees. On-the-job training is available for everyone to learn about the shipping industry.

Positions also become available for graduates or those who already have professional qualifications.

The shipping industry attracts a wide range of disciplines including accounting, IT, customer service, marketing, logistics and international business. In more specialised sectors of the industry, ship chartering and broking skills are often in demand.

Future Doctors Australia - A 4 Day Program for ages 14 to 18

Register now for April next year (17-20 April)

Gaining medical work experience is essential for young people considering a medical career. It provides insight into the field, helps develop skills and attributes, and provides networking opportunities.

However, obtaining medical work experience can be challenging due to various restrictions such as limited opportunities, safety concerns, and confidentiality issues.

That's why NIE has developed the "Future Doctors Australia" program. This engaging and high-impact 4-day program provides young people with a unique opportunity to gain medical work experience in a safe and structured environment. Participants will have the opportunity to spend time with current junior and senior medical students. They will also have the rare opportunity to spend time with more senior clinicians and various medical specialists. You will learn about clinical specialist's relevant fields of work, ask them questions, and learn some hands-on skills from them.

What to do if your child doesn't want to go to uni?

So you've helped your child through high school and now they're unexpectedly telling you uni might not be for them?

Time to take a deep breath and have a chat with your child about next steps. Forcing them down the university path is unlikely to end well, so a chat with them about why they're not as keen on uni as you are is a great place to start.

UNSW National Science Week Seminar - Athena Aktipis: A Field Guide to the Apocalypse

14 August

Spend a few minutes scrolling through your social media newsfeed and you'd be forgiven for thinking we're in the midst of an absolute apocalypse. There's a cost of living crisis, a housing crisis and of course, the looming climate crisis. So how do we go about thriving in the face of impending doom? Evolutionary biologist Athena Aktipis has the answers. From overcoming fear to making smart decisions based on history and human psychology, Aktipis offers a fresh perspective on navigating our multi-apocalyptic reality.
